1 An Introduction To Eleanor The Preacher

YouTube Video <https://youtu.be/KmIvrujDceo>

The following two video's tell of my daughter Eleanor Clarke being up set with me for addressing the subject of homosexuality, paedophilia and adultery on face book and for holding to the views that oppose the practice and having beliefs about the subject that oppose the majority of people.

You will need to listen to her email, that I read to you, where she outlines her complaint and then listen to my response. That I call my response to Eleanor the preacher.

The whole subject is an important one as it may well effect many families and should not be ignored of swept under the carpet. I would value feed back as it may well help me address the subject over any issues that have not been made clear in the videos.

Eleanor Mary Clarke The Preacher

YouTube <https://youtu.be/6fjbI1V0GTw>

Elly Mary Clarke is my daughter, born 29th October, 1983 wrote to me in an email, in January 2019 expressing her distress and objections to me responding to the behaviour of David, her twin brother, who had decided not to speak to me again, or see me again, after I had expressed my views to him, in private, about his homosexuality and after a few exchanges between us on Facebook.

She started by saying that my labelling homosexuality, adultery, and fornication and putting them all in the same the same box is not going to win my argument. Isn't going to win you your family support. And isn't going to get through to people. Just hurt those closest to you. These were her words.

She goes on to say.

I will tell you what I voiced to Isaac. I am just frustrated in your approach dad.

Firstly putting all of that dirty laundry on Facebook – there was just no need to add things about Uncle Michael and other things for all the world to see, however I do understand why, you were attacked too...but its common sense. Plus you are the adult.

She went on to state; you act like a child and not the father a lot of the time. Getting your point across rather than helping, coaching and nurturing.

You don't ever take into consideration a person's feelings – it's like you have no emotion, no feelings.

Your children, especially Dave is hurting. I know Dave is a nightmare at times but sometimes you need to be the bigger person/ be a father and get down to David's level. Empathize.

She states; If you had lead an exemplary life with just a few mistakes, I would respect your views a lot more but you haven't. You have messed up time and time again.

She says; the way you preach is like putting a square peg through a round hole. Repeatedly.

There are better ways to preach your beliefs. Be rational, be logical – you want to preach the word of God then get down to level of the people you are preaching too. Take your EGO and fundamentalist approach out of the equation.

She then says; I feel you don't ever empathize with us children or anyone else in any situation, it's like you have no feelings.

You are arguing your point, which is absolutely fine but then you act like the adult in any given situation. If you were to say to little David...."- look you know my faith, you know I have messed up so many ways but I feel the path I am taking is the right one for me. I truly believe x, y, z because.....Whilst I support you and love you, my belief for all these years isn't going to appease you but I don't want us to turn against each other. Lets make a deal with each other, I won't stir the pot to upset you and in turn you don't for me. This is the approach you need to take for your children's sake.

She cites; look at mum and the Royce's, the topic of God is off the table because they don't want to fall out but love each other.

Whilst you and Isaac believe in God and have chosen the path that you both want to take, appreciate that I have too, it's not the same as yours but I am happy with my path.

I have a good moral compass. Many of the principles I follow (any most people) lay loosely on some of the commandments anyway which is quite ironic. I am really happy with my life. I could even say that I feel it's a damn sight happier than yours, yet you are the one casting so many stones to people saying they are all wrong and you are living the good life.

I mean you are hardly living a good life are you?

Your faith and religion don't seem to have bought you much happiness or a really good life - in fact I'd say you are unhappier than most.

A lot of people do not believe in God, why can't we have a society (or at least a father) who says you believe in what you do. I do what I do.

Lets leave it at that. According to you; you are still essentially going to heaven right ? So why alienate people when in fact you could just boast about your believe and supposed happiness.

If I was a believer, I would be shouting out why and how it make me feel and how happy I was to have something to believe in.

I wouldn't be condemning everyone around me and then quoting verses from the bible that only people who know the bible would understand.

You don't preach to the converted, you preach to the unconverted – which means getting to their level.

A good teacher knows this, they can empathize, know you audience to get the best out of it. (By the way) I was teasing you about your teaching qualifications, I know you have them but that doesn't make you a good teacher).

You know the ability to empathize is a powerful tool, it will obtain you more respect, more listeners and admiration.

Look however we came on this earth, we have grown and with that we all have feelings and emotions (apart from you it seems) so with that you can't cast the feelings aside like you do.

Dad you so smart in so many ways yet so stupid same times and for that I just lose some respect. You used to show emotion, you used to understand but these days you just argue everything logically.

People person's cannot help but bring emotions into decisions/arguments/ everyday life, people base life on emotions. You connect with someone emotionally too and you are onto a winner.

Oh by the way, I am pregnant; very early mind. Due around your birthday. I get scans today, I will know how far soon.

My Response to Ely Clarke and her cryptic comments like:

Still not getting it.

Homosexuality is consonantal. 2 people consenting and enjoying.

3 Thank you Eleanor for your cryptic greetings.

Homosexuality is sin and contrary all moral righteousness.

You can argue all you like arguments will not change this. Con sensuality does not make homosexuality right or acceptable, it is immoral.

Prostitution is not right and Con sensuality does not make it right, it is wrong.

Fornication (sex outside of marriage) is not right co n-sensuality does not make it right either, it is wrong. Take the example of two robbers taking the money from a dead mans wallet does their joint consent make the consensual theft right.

To sight an extreme case; if the parents of a new born baby, from an unwanted pregnancy, decide to kill the new born at birth, as they cannot face or want the responsibility of bring the child up, is it right because they both consent. Their consensually of disposing of their murdered baby, by killing it and disposing of the body, does make it morally right. It is wrong.

I am not seeking to win any argument with you, or anyone I am stating the truth to you all. Consensually among people does not make immoral act right or justifiable, that was the rule of the SS Nazi party.

Black can never be white, however much you try to argue.

I am not seeking family support but rather I'm giving my support to the family that appears to be going off the rails. I am informing you all that homosexuality is wrong, fornication is wrong and we should teach these morals to our children.

I am the one being hurt in this matter. I am not making up my own rules, or values just informing you all of things you should know, but reject and beliefs and values your mum once knew and upheld.

You can be frustrated as you like but you are wrong and insolent, just like Esther and your behaviour disrespectful and arrogant.

You just don't get it, do you? (My turn to respond) Not at all and you won't get it unless you listen and understand the views I am expressing and on the list enclosed

David is the one causing this trouble. Had David not asked me my opinion as how I felt about paedophilia and homosexuality nothing would have been said.

I told him what I believed after he had asked my opinion and what I felt from my knowledge.

I had suffered David's behaviour (knowledge of his coming out) since he told me about his condition as a teenager at 13 or 14, but never got onto him about his state. I have always been available for him, never rejected him, or his friends. And always been there for him and will be. He has always known my views. So when he asks me do I think homosexuality and paedophilia are as bad as each other I tell him straight. That are both sinful, that both are condemned by God and I did not approve.

Now as for Face Book it was David who started it all by putting his views on my Facebook wall. He asked me, on Facebook pasting an image of a gay person being wheeled, in a wheel barrow, about to be killed, because of his or her homosexuality, asking did I view homosexuality in the same light as paedophilia. David is the one that you should be complaining to not me.

David has been very wrong in his behaviour towards you all, in the past and I have been to one to try to help and patch things up. David is not a child any more. David's behaviour is that of moral depravity.

He reacted to me, and my views openly, just before Christmas by cutting off contact with me. He came to us all last Christmas and made the Christmas meal but not this year. I did not turn away from him it was him reacting to me expressing what I believed and how I felt and my views. He has the problem not me. He caused it not me.

Had he not asked me about my views and understandings we would be behaved towards each other as we had done for past 20 years. I have no problem with him being against me (not that I want that) and this situation has not change now. I love him, as I love you all, and whilst I am at it Esther is as bad as you. You are both out of order too. David is doing to me what he did to both you Esther, and Mum. He is performing as a moral deviant.

You may view paedophilia, fornication, adultery, homosexuality in different lights, and levels of morality.

I don't. I know them to be sinful and morally wrong. That is what I am saying and making my views known.

I object to PSHE program being introduced in schools and have made my views known and why. It introduces some of these immoral practices to children, without informing Children of the moral rights and wrong of these practices.

It disappoints me that none of you seem to be concerned. You seem only to be concerned about how it affect you and how you are hurt.

Remember both you and Esther have baby's who will be attending school before you know it. You need to be aware of what it going on. This matter has knock on effects. Rebekah now has two brothers who are openly homosexual, and her Mum just does not know how to deal with it.

I respond to a situation as I find it. I do, and have done, what I feel is best and right. I am not acting to please people but doing what must be done.

From your response it seems to me you have not listened to what I have said, or not understood, otherwise you would realise why I mention Micheal, David, James Gold, Joanne, etc. It seems to me that you do not care nor are concerned as to why things are as they are and the problems between them all.

My views are those of a real person and I am your father, older than you, am acting LIKE a father. Whether you resent me or not my views are true valid and sincere.

I think we can leave preaching to others and those who can teach the word of God.

Well at for pregnancy, it is now you should start thanking God, for all things and learn yourself the way, so that I don't have to keep on reminding you.

Congratulation all good gifts come from God.
